A LEGAL SENSATION.

A Fort Wayne Jury Reprimanded
by the Judge

FOR USING LANGUAGE SHOWING BIAS.

He Admitted Saying That an A. P. A.
Was as Good as a Catholic Priest or Any Other Man—The Whole Jury Discharged.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., May 3.—When the circuit court convened yesterday for the purpose of hearing the evidence in the criminal libel case against W. P.
Bidwell the editor of the American Eagle, a very sensational and, to the spectators, an unexpected occurrence took place.

At 2 o'clock, when the jury had just taken their seats, Judge O'Rourke turned to them and said that an advocate had been filed charging one of the jurors, Joseph Hood, with conduct which, if true, would disqualify him
from acting as a juror in the case.

It was charged that in a conversation last evening, Juror Hood had cursed the lawyer for the prosecution for his remarks about the A. P. A.'s in the court room; also that he had said an A. P. A. was better than eight Catholic priests, and that he was certain that Bidwell would not be convicted.

Hood was examined, and admitted having talked about the case, but denied having made the remarks charged. He testified, however, that he had said that an A. P. A. was as good as a Catholic priest or any other man.

Judge O'Rourke reprimanded Juror
Hood severely, and dismissing the jury,
continued the case until the next term
of court.

Attorney Chambers, of Indianapolis,
for the defense, excepted to all the rulings, and hopes the proceedings will operate to secure his client's acquittal.

THE KING DEEPLY AFFECTED.

Later News from Earthquake-Stricken Greece.

LONDON, May 3.—A dispatch to the Times from Athens says: The king arrived at Thebes yesterday and the ruin, havoc and misery there resulting from the recent earthquake shocks deeply affected him. He has ordered that everything possible be done to make the people comfortable.

The shock which was felt here Tuesday morning was especially severe in the northern part of the island of Eubœa. One village was entirely destroyed. The people are so demoralized that it is difficult to gain details, and it is not yet known whether any loss of life resulted.

Grave fears have been entertained by the residents of Attica lest the village be submerged but leading geologists are of the opinion that there is no danger of this.

The Attica district was again severely shaken Tuesday afternoon.
Heavy rains have made the roads almost impassable, and the work of relieving the sufferers by the earthquake is seriously interfered with.

COLLIDING TRAINS BURNED UP.

Narrow Escape of Passengers—The Wreck Caused by an Engi-ner's Forgetfulness.

AMSTERDAM, May 3.—A frightful railway collision occurred near Haren-drecht Tuesday between the Paris express and a freight train consisting of cars loaded with petroleum. At a point between Zwinedrecht and Haren-drecht, the express struck the freight train, shattering all of the cars and setting fire to the petroleum. Both trains were burned up, and the passengers of the express had great difficulty in getting out of reach of the flames, so rapidly did the fire spread.
A number of persons were injured, but none was reported killed. The collision was due to the forgetfulness of one of the engineers, who disregarded
the fact that the new summer timetable went into effect Tuesday, and was running on the old schedule.

THE A. P. A. IN THE ST. PAUL (MINN.) ELEC- TION.

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 3.—Robert Smith has again been elected mayor of St. Paul. His plurality this time is in the neighborhood of 1,000. McCarty, the republican candidate for comptroller, is on top, and so is Wagener,
the democratic candidate for city treasurer. The republicans have captured six of the eleven members of the board of aldermen.

The democrats made the American Protective association issue very clear, and the classes of people who are opposed to that organization turned out as one man to vote against the republican candidates. Doran always claimed to have no connection with the movement, but his claim was not regarded as sincere by the opposition. The A.
P. A. has said that it had about 10,000 votes in St. Paul.

Will Give the West a Chance.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—In the schedule of supplies for the government hospital for the insane during the ensuing fiscal year there is an item calling for 300,000 pounds of fresh beef, home slaughtered. The attention of the secretary of the interior has been called to this restriction by the large beef packers of the west as a discrimination against western beef, unless brought into the District of Columbia and there slaughtered. In view of this the secretary desires the announcement that proposals will be considered for furnishing fresh beef, no matter where dressed, provided the bidders clearly state the class bid upon and where the beef is to be slaughtered or dressed.

Attempted to Seize a Train.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., May 2.—Last night Randall's army, a large gang of Coxeyites en route east from Chicago, attempted to seize a Nickel Plate train near Stony Island. The officers were summoned from all directions. The gang of tramps and commonwealers finally got as far as Hammond, where they spent the night.

Supt Gorman, of the Nickel Plate, this afternoon received word that the gang was traveling on foot and would reach Hobart to-night. Hobart is on the line of both the Nickel Plate and Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago
railroads, and the officers of both companies are preparing to resist any sensational movements to-night.

Still Beyond the Reach of the Rescuers.

GRATE, May 2.—The cave-exploring party who are imprisoned in a cave at Lugloch, near Sourinich, Styria, are still beyond the reach of the relief parties who are endeavoring to rescue them. It is now sixty hours since the rescuers were compelled to abandon work at the mouth of the cave in consequence of the rising waters. Efforts have been made to communicate with the imprisoned party by means of electricity, but they have not been successful. Three divers started from Trieste yesterday to assist the relief parties.

An Heroic But Hopeless Labor.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., May 2.—The fire in
No. 3 slope of Packer colliery No. 5, which broke out yesterday, is still raging fiercely, and the men have been working to extinguish it under the greatest difficulties and amid great danger. Forty-five men were overcome in the last fifteen hours. The workmen are now within 200 feet of the fire, but are still upwards of 500 feet from the two unfortunate men.
The fire is between the imprisoned men and the rescuers. It is now certain that the men, Smith and Sollowski,
are dead.

Induced the Men to Abandon Work.

DUTCH, Minn., May 3.—Between 500
and 600 men who struck at the Virginia iron mines Tuesday assembled yesterday morning and decided to force
the men at Mountain Iron to quit work. They marched across the country to the largest mine of the Rockefeller group and in a short time induced the 1,300 miners to abandon work. There was no violence. The men on the Mountain Iron property were getting from $1.25 to $1.50 per day.

DECATUR MEN MAY GO OUT.

The Coal Mining Trouble Has Struck Our City at Last.It is to be a General Walk-Out—Big Meeting To-Night—Everybody to Quit Work.

The trouble with the coal miners has at last reached Decatur, and the probabilities are that all of the men will be idle by to-morrow, and not a pound of fuel coming out of the mines. That was the prospect of the situation this forenoon, gathered from the operators and miners themselves.

The Decatur miners as stated in former issues of the REPUBLICAN, have no grievance. They are receiving 52 and 56 cents a ton for mining. At Lincoln the price is 51 cents; at Springfield and Taylorville about 55 cents; at Pana it is 28 cents. It will be observed that the Decatur men get the best wages and make an average of 82 a day.

THE SITUATION.

Last Thursday, April 26th, at Springfield, a general meeting of all union and non-union miners of the state was held to take action on the strike now in progress. The Decatur miners were not represented at that meeting. They were invited to send a representative but did not. The miners who have gone out at other points look upon the Decatur men as scabs, and a Springfield striker now in Decatur says that every pound of fuel taken out of the mines in this city since the strike was declared is scab coal. This same individual declared that in case the striking miners did not gain their point they will appeal to the American Federation for sympathetic action and tie up all the railroads in the country. He said the railroad companies are not paying enough for coal taken from the mines, 60 cents only at Springfield and 90 cents in Decatur. If more money was paid for coal, he said, the miners would get better pay.

"Suppose the miners refuse to stop work at Decatur and Pana?" asked the reporter.

"You'll see," was the reply. "President Crawford will telegraph to the Springfield Valley district and have 5,000 idle men march on the two towns. I have no fear of the ultimate result of the strike. The operators must come to terms and then all of the men will go to work. The pay at Springfield has been so low that the company has had to keep half the men and their families all winter; and now that the men have been out but a week, many of them are compelled to live on greens that they get off the commons."

VISITORS.

President Crawford, Mr. Murray, vice president, and Organizer Howels, of Colorado, were at Pana all day Wednesday organizing the non-union men as United Mine Workers. These officials are now in Decatur, together with Mr. Hastie, from the Taylorville mine, who came up to see the state officials and was busy all forenoon looking for them. These visitors are here to confer with the miners and induce them, if possible, to quit work, and join the organization known as the United Mine Workers. It is probable that a general meeting will be held to-night in some big hall to reach some formal action. The visitors of course will do all they can to get the men to walk out. That is what they are here for, and they will use every persuasion possible to tie up the two mines and bring the 400 miners to idleness so that the strike inaugurated may be successful.

The mine owners do not know just what will happen, but they believe that nearly all of the men will quit work for a short time at least.

HARD AT WORK.

A reporter visited the old shaft mines this morning and found a large force of men busily at work. They were non-communicative except that there would be a meeting to-night to settle whether they would go out or not. The company is very busy to-day, as the orders for coal are coming in at a very rapid rate. The officers of the company say this in itself is very indicative that the men are going out. It was just four years ago to-day that the employees at this shaft went out on a strike, which lasted over five weeks. The men do not claim to have any grievance, but that should they go out they will do so through sympathy for the other strikers.

At the new shaft the coal is being hauled away as rapidly as it can be brought to the top. People who need coal are placing big orders to tide over a possible season of inactivity at the mines.

The city plant at the river is supplied with enough coal to last a month.

AT LINCOLN.

At a mass meeting of the miners at Lincoln, held in the court house, it was voted to stop work and make no provision whatever for the local trade, cutting off the mills, the state institutions and street car company. The miners held that if the local trade was supplied then there could be no effective strike. This plan, if followed everywhere, will shut off the supply effectually and make coal go up in price several dollars a ton.

THE GENERAL SITUATION.

John McBride, president of the United Mine Workers, has issued the second official bulletin under date of April 30, from which the following extracts are made:

"The suspension of mining has entered upon its second week and under more favorable circumstances than when first started. The army of idle mine workers now engaged in the fight to obtain living wages number over 160,000. When you first stopped work it was said you could not win because of the great stock of coal on hand, and the belief that one-half of the bituminous miners would stop.

It is now conceded that there is not over 24,000 miners at work in the entire bituminous coal fields of the country, and on all hands and from nearly every local and general market the cry for coal is heard.

"From a careful estimate made by us we predict, if you are true to yourselves and stand shoulder to shoulder as you now are, it will not be long until there will not be coal enough left in the general market to heat a tea kettle with and a complete victory will be yours."

"Already operators are offering to pay the price asked, and in some instances more than has been demanded, to get men to resume work, but the men are true to the orders issued by the National convention and refuse to work at any price until a general settlement has been made."

"Since our last report there has been no desertions from our ranks, and the only change has been in our favor, and this by reason of more men joining our ranks. The Southern Illinois field is getting into line in good shape. The Indiana Block coal miners have joined the movement and the entire state may be classed as solid. The number of idle men in West Virginia has increased, but in the Fairmont district the old rate of wages has been restored and it is doubtful now as to whether the men can be gotten out. Letters from Iowa indicate that the state convention to be held at Albia, May 2, will most likely decide to stop the entire state."

SUIT FOR $10,000.

John Boyde Wants N. W. Tohill
to Fork Over Damages.

In the circuit court to-day Attorney I. D. Walker for the plaintiff filed a declaration in the case of John Boyde vs. N. W. Tohill, of Long Creek township, demanding damages in the sum of $10,000 for false imprisonment and malicious prosecution. The suit grows out of the burning of a big barn and other property belonging to Mr. Tohill. In the bill are two counts for malicious prosecution and one for false imprisonment. It is set forth in the declaration that in June, 1892, the defendant, Tohill and his wife, Rebecca, went before the grand jury and had Boyde indicted "without any reasonable and probable cause," for burning the Tohill barn and straw stack. Boyde was arrested and kept in the county jail for 15 months, being taken to the prison through the streets against his will or wish, being kept there so that he could not attend to his business. At the trial in the circuit court Boyde was discharged, and it will be recalled that he was discharged without being called upon to introduce any evidence in his own behalf.

Now Mr. Boyde wants Mr. Tohill to pay him $10,000 damages. The case promises to excite considerable interest in the city and country.

M'INTOSH—MORRISON.

The Marriage of a Popular Couple
on North College Street
Last Evening.

Alexander McIntosh and Miss Lula Grace Morrison were married last evening at the home of the bride on North College street. The wedding was a quiet affair, only a few of the intimate friends and relatives of the contracting parties being present to witness the ceremony. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock by Rev. W. H. Penhalligon, pastor of the Presbyterian church, of which the bride is an active and influential member. The bride was attired in a handsome street gown of tan cloth trimmed in lace, and carried a bunch of Marechal Niel roses. The company, which consisted of about thirty persons, after the ceremony and congratulations sat down to a bountiful spread. The couple received a large number of handsome presents. Mr. McIntosh is at the head of Master-in-Chancery Finn's abstract office, is a splendid gentleman and enjoys a host of friends who will join in well wishes for the future of Mr. and Mrs. McIntosh, who will reside on North Edward street.

THE CLEVELAND RIOT

Five Thousand Men Bent Upon Destruction,
ARMED WITH STONES AND SCRAP IRON,

Make Assaults Upon Various Industrial Plants, Driving the Men From Work and Riddling the Buildings in Their Mad Rage.

Mot and Dispersed by the Police After a Gallant Fight—All Quiet at Last Accounts With Police and Military in Reserve.

CLEVELAND, O., May 2.—Labor troubles in Cleveland came to a crisis yesterday, when 4,000 men, armed with clubs and stones, marched through the streets closing down each factory as they came to it. Destruction of property seemed to be their aim. There were few English-speaking people in the crowd. In fact it was a rabble made up chiefly of foreigners.

At the Variety iron works the mob rushed up to the door of the foundry and in among the men, waving their clubs.

The Upson nut works was invaded, all the windows broken, and many of the men were stricken down at their work. It was only the appearance of the police that prevented the destruction of the works. The crowd was crazy and past all control. Polish, Bohemian, Hungarian, Slav and a regular babble of tongues shouted orders and encouraged the rioters on to their work.

The riot was of small beginning. The crowd was under the impression that the police were just waiting for them to start out. When two men with flags shouted themselves hoarse for the crowd to fall in, there was hesitation on the part of the spectators to obey the commands. The speaker was cheered lustily when he said: "Come on, boys; we'll show these fellows who's boss."

Only a motley group of a dozen or so boys followed the leader with the flags as he led the way through the square. As the crowd marched the square was abandoned, and by the time the marchers reached Michigan street 4,000 men were in line. Shrieking and hooting, they jeered all those who did not join them and cheered themselves hoarse.

The mob beyond control. By this time it was a mob beyond control. The crowd poured into Seneca street, seizing sticks and clubs as they went. The Seneca-street bridge swayed back and forth under the continuous tramping.

The firemen at the engine house at the end of the bridge excited the crowd as they thought they were police. The clubs were in the air in a moment, but the firemen stood their ground and the mob swept on to join the head of the rabble which was assailing the Variety iron works.

A Command to "Halt" Comes Too Late. At the Variety iron works the leader with the flags shouted "Halt," and advised peace. The crowd was past holding back and rushed up to the open door of the foundry department. They were stopped for a moment as the superintendent stood in the way and ordered the mob back. His words of warning were lost as the crowd surged past him and in among the workmen, who stood with their tools in their hands. One of the workmen made a move as if he would go on. The mob made for him. This threatening move warned the other men who made haste to take their buckets.

In the meantime the crowd on the outside shook their clubs in the air and threatened violence to anyone who would defy them. Several stones were thrown at the windows and the clubs beat tattoos on the doors and side of the house. When the men came out and joined the ranks of the mob a wild shout went up from the throats of the thousands.

Another Branch of the Mob. While the foundrymen were being forced out, another branch of the mob went to other sections of the shop. The doors were closed and barred. There were hundreds of faces peering in at the windows, and as the men were seen at work in the shop the crowd became wild with rage. A rush was made at the barred doors, and the rioters fairly fought to get a chance to put their shoulders to the work. The door was of stout material and held. Fortunately there was a diversion in the way of a little scramble in the rear of the crowd which attracted the mob at the doors for a time. When they came back the doors were open and not a man was in sight. Then there was a shout of triumph.

"Advance!" Again the leader, with the flag waving over his head, shouted: "Advance!" It was a welcome word, as the mob had just commenced to feel their strength, and, as no resistance was offered, they gloated in their power. Shouting "Victory!" they rushed on to the Standard paint works.

On the way every man who was in sight was dragged into the ranks. Offices and storerooms were looted and the window blinds were drawn and barred. The excitement was infectious, and drivers of teams left their teams with their wagons partially loaded to join the crowd. The mob had halted in front of the Standard paint works. There was no order now in the ranks. Every man seemed to vie with his neighbor in making a noise. Invections were shouted at the men in the office, and clubs were shaken threateningly. There was short parleying, as the men in the works were pretty well frightened, and were glad to get off so easily. The laborers joined the ranks of the mob, which was growing larger all the while.

broke loose from all restraint. The rioters simply broke loose from all restraints and went wild as they approached the Upson nut works. There was a trainload of coal standing alongside of the works. A small boy clambered up on a car, stood for a moment, then reached down and seizing a lump of coal, hurled it through the window. In a moment the cars were black with men and the air was filled with flying missiles. The windows were broken and the men in the shops were struck down before they could retreat. A number of them had their heads cut and bodies bruised.

Howling Like Demons. There was a cessation in the coal throwing, as the mob rushed for the building. The gates were all closed, and not an entrance way was visible. Howling like demons the men rushed against the gates, forcing them from their hinges. Enraged by this feeble resistance the mob took vengeance by tearing the doors and gates to pieces. Running mad through the immense building they took complete possession. The men in the works fled from the shops, leaving their clothes and dinner baskets to their fates. The molds were destroyed, and everything that would succumb to clubs wielded by infuriated men was wrecked.

The mob rushed from the wrecked building down the railroad track to the office of the company. Rocks were hurled through the window, and the destruction of the plant seemed probable.

The Blue Coats Take a Hand. At this juncture a howl went up from the crowd of "police," and before the words were hardly uttered, the blue coats were out and at work.

The crowd at first ran, then recovering its courage surrounded the police. The mob took possession of the coal cars and used them as barriers. Stones were thrown from time to time at the police who were unprotected. The police had their clubs in hand and several times put their hands to their pockets to draw their weapons. This only caused the crowd to jeer and laugh. The leaders pushed in among the rioters, exhorting them to stand their ground. The 4,000 dwindled away to half that number. The handful of police would have been swept off the face of the earth if the leaders could only have gotten the men started. They stood and faltered and in that moment of hesitation they lost their courage.

Presented a Formidable Appearance. Covered by the force at the Upson works the mob planned a move on the Faulhaber Furniture Co. The rioters started on a run down the tracks. The police gave chase and arrived just in time to prevent the scenes of the Upson works from being enacted.

By the time the police had come to the Lampson Nut and Bolt Co.'s plant their numbers had been so augmented that they presented a formidable appearance. The mob lined the hill, jeering and gnying the officers, but made no offensive move until Tom Moore, the anarchist, again began his howling and shouting, crying to the rioters to kill the "— — —" "bring their necks." Two or three officers started towards the hill and instantly there was a shower of stones and scrap iron.

Tumbled Over Each Other in Their Haste to Get Away. This was enough for the police. The word was given, and away they started up the hill pell mell, their long clubs in hand. The rioters did not wait for them, but tumbled over each other in their anxiety to get out of the way.

The mob scattered quickly when they reached the crest of the hill by Abbey and Davidson streets, but gathered soon again in a vacant lot north of Abbey street, by the Cleveland spring bed factory. The police, led by Capt. English, were massed on the east end of the Abbey-street bridge, and Capt. English ordered the mob to move on. They seemed somewhat disinclined to do so, and Capt. English whirled his baton and yelled: "Clean 'em out, boys!" And snuffing the action to the word, he started on a dead run for a great big fellow, smashed him across the head and kicked him. The police followed quickly, using their clubs freely on anyone who did not move his legs fast enough.

The Clubbing Went Merrily On. For a while the clubbing went on right merrily, but the mob made tracks and scattered in all directions.

In the meantime the ringleader of the whole affair had been arrested—Tom Moore, the man who has been advocating violence from the first of the labor troubles. When the mob retreated from the Upson works he ran up and down the embankment, beseeching them to stand their ground, and "kill the d—d policemen." "Bring on your gatlings," he yelled. "Bring on your police, we'll beat them." He then turned to the rioters and called them cowards for not fighting. When the fight was going on upon Abbey street he rushed up and down, yelling to the rioters to resist, until he ran against the club of a policeman that broke his scalp. A couple of officers threw him into a patrol wagon, in which he was taken to the station and locked up.

The Mob Scattered. The mob by this time having been scattered, Capt. English, leaving a small squad on the bridge, put his men into the wagons and started for the Variety iron works.

At this time there must have been sixty policemen on the ground and these were soon joined by the mounted police. The crowd was an ugly one. On Abbey street, after the fight, they gathered in groups, discussing it in sullen and sometimes violent tones, quickly separating when a policeman came toward them.

Scenes of Wild Disorder. There were scenes of wild disorder in the eastern part of the city. The desire to stop work of all kinds seemed to take possession of every laborer, and at 9 o'clock a band of 200 Italians marched to the top of a drum down East End avenue. They were armed with clubs, tree limbs, iron and wire rods, and two or three carried gate posts. They were led by two men on horseback, one of the leaders being Charles Son.

At Gate's quarry there were speeches, yelling, threats and a demand that the quarry employees throw down their tools and join the unemployed. There was some kicking, but the men dropped their tools and joined the marching throng.

At Neff's quarry the operation was repeated, and at Reader's quarry there was little opposition. The rioters then forced their way into boarding-houses and compelled men to join them. They even forced some to get out of bed, dress and get in the ranks.

On the march back to headquarters the police were stopped in front of the Variety iron works, on Soranton avenue, where Manager Webster announced that he was going to resume operations at 1 o'clock, and that he wanted the police to protect the works.

Protection Promised. "Go ahead; start your works," said Director Herbert, "and we will see that your men are not interfered with. We will give you all the police protection you need."

When the rioters began pounding upon the doors of the Lamson & Sessions shops, the workmen inside rigged up several lines of hose and prepared to turn a few streams of water upon the disturbers in case they succeeded in battering down the doors. The police arrived before the doors gave way, and thus the rioters were saved the ignominy of getting a bath. The hose lines will be kept in readiness at the Lamson & Sessions works for future use.

The Mayor Issues a Proclamation—The Militia.

Mayor Blew issued a proclamation this afternoon calling upon all citizens to refrain from assembling together for purposes of riot and disorders, and states that all the power vested in the city officers will be used to enforce the law and maintain order, and all citizens will be protected in their right to labor and follow their lawful pursuits. The mayor also held a consultation with the officers of the fifth regiment, and as a result six companies of that regiment, together with the Cleveland Grays and the City guards, were ordered to assemble in their armories, subject to calls for service by the mayor.

Another Riot. During the afternoon another riot took place in the southern part of the city. The police had been notified that trouble was expected, and a squad of police, under charge of Lieut. Stein and accompanied by Director of Police Herbert, hastened to the mills located there.

The first place visited by the mob was the works of the United Salt Co. The works were forcibly invaded, the men driven from their work, and the fires put out.

Police in Ambush. The rioters then proceeded to the Cleveland rolling mills to compel all the men to quit work. The mob surrounded the works and began hooting at the men, all unaware that the detachment of police was within the inclosure. Suddenly an assault was made on the works. The fence was torn down and the mob surged in. The officers charged the crowd, the director swinging a club with his men. There was about ten minutes of fierce clubbing, and then the crowd gave way and scattered in every direction. Seven of the rioters, all with broken heads, were arrested.

Will Use Dynamite in Defense of Their Works.

The Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling railway contractors at work in Brooklyn village, have placed charges of dynamite in the hills surrounding their work and connected them with electric batteries. Dynamite bombs have also been prepared for the defense of their workmen.

Precautionary Measures. Fearing trouble during the evening a squad of 150 police was stationed in the public square to prevent any gathering there. A vigilant outlook was also kept on all outlying places where there was a possibility of rioters congregating, and reserves were kept in readiness to be sent at once to quell any riotous demonstration.

All Quiet at 10 p. m.

The people of the city were filled with fear that the mob might resort to the torch or dynamite, and attempt to destroy factories and private residences.

At 10 o'clock everything was reported quiet at police headquarters, and no further outbreak was anticipated during the night.

FIFTY-THIRD CONGRESS.

(First Session.)

SENATE. WASHINGTON, May 2.—The discussion of the tariff bill in the senate today was not marked by any of those exciting incidents or important announcements that had characterized the debate on recent days.

Mr. Lodge did make a strenuous effort to gain the democratic sentiment, display of temper, but they remained calm and stolid, taking no notice whatever of his remarks.

The policy in regard to the bill was outlined by Mr. Lodge (far as he was authorized to outline it) in the declaration that the republican party would welcome the responsibility of defeating the bill or stopping its passage, and that discussion of every item and a vote upon every item would be insisted upon.

Mr. Lodge was followed by Mr. Squire in a speech in which the bill was denounced as a political and commercial monstrosity.

No action was taken on the pending amendment, and the senate at 5 p. m. adjourned.

HOUSE. The Dockery resolution to-day succeeded in passing through the house, with but one dissenting vote, the seventh on the list of bills reported by it, for which are now laws, the comprehensive and important measures prepared by the commission providing for the abolishing of the offices of commissioner of customs and second comptroller of the treasury and devolving their duties upon the auditor.

By the changes proposed a saving of $200,000 a year in clerk hire and miscellaneous expenses is anticipated. But this will not take effect at once, for the work of the department is first to be brought up to date, and this will require for some time the employment of an additional force of clerks.

Before adjournment the house entered upon the consideration of the river and harbor appropriation bill for the year ending June 30, 1904.

OTTO GUMPER, lately a prisoner in the Decatur jail, is now in the Springfield prison. He has made a kick in the Springfield papers about the condition of the jail. He has had experience. It is evident that he considers the Decatur jail a palace.

Tax man who called sarsaparilla a fraud, had good reason; for he got hold of a worthless mixture at "reduced rates." He changed his opinion, however, when he began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It pays to be careful, when buying medicines.

Last night a girl baby was found in a basket on the doorstep at the Anna B. Millikin Home in the Fifth ward. It had a nursing bottle and was crying. Mrs. Catto, the President, telephoned to the matron to take it in, and after it had been cooed at and soothed it fell asleep. The managers do not know whence it came, but they will probably find a home for the little waif in the near future.

The prohibition state convention will be held to-day and to-morrow at Bloomington, and 600 delegates are expected. It is predicted that the convention will nominate a candidate for United States senator. Those mentioned for this nomination are J. Ross Hanna of Monmouth, Dr. J. G. Evans of Abingdon, and Hale Johnson of Newton. The Decatur third party people are represented at the convention by A. F. Smith and others.

At the April meeting of the Woman's Club it was voted to send the president, Mrs. Geo. R. Bacon, as a representative to the meeting of the Federation of Woman's Clubs, at Philadelphia. The presidents of all federated clubs are vice presidents of the federation. Mrs. Bacon was unable to go and has appointed Mrs. C. P. Thatcher to represent the club, who leaves to-night for Philadelphia.

The work of repairing the worn places in the brick paved streets is now in progress. It began yesterday on the south side of Lincoln Square, where ten years ago the first paving in the city was laid. The brick has worn very well, and the square is damaged by use only in spots.

PARADE OF PRINCES.

Members of Lucullus Council Take in the Town with the Band.

The initiated members of Lucullus Council, Princes of the Orient, had fun with twenty candidates last night at the inner temple in the hall of Cœur de Leon Lodge, Knights of Pythias. They were Ed. L. Martin, J. L. Drake, Brock Irwin, W. H. Bailey, W. G. Gubird, Wm. Armstrong, L. E. Eymann, J. S. Galvin, H. C. Wallace, G. W. Thompson, John Allen, W. H. Muzzy, A. H. Beck, W. J. Ferris, Edgar N. Six, J. H. Fritz, W. H. Nickey, W. H. McKernan, C. H. Pringuy of Chicago and C. H. Leon, who felt after solemn assurances that they could take the mysterious journey in safety to life and limb. Before the "horrors of the ceremony," about which we know nothing, because all reporters were wisely or unwisely excluded, there was an imposing street parade with bright banners, all of the members wearing the fez caps of the Oriental order, and at the head of the jolly column was the energetic Monitor Band. The display was enthusiastic from start to finish, and wound up with a big picnic at the hall. The band got special instructions to read the ambient air with Midway music and they did it with a will.

The princes are rapidly increasing in numbers and the council is flourishing as never before.

"Alvin Joslin."

One hundred and eighty laughs in 190 minutes is an enticing and tempting announcement. Of course everyone familiar with theatrical headlines knows this means that Charles L. Davis is to appear in his always popular creation, "Alvin Joslin," at the Grand to-morrow night, and the fact that he will personally interpret the role of "Old Uncle Alvin" is sufficient to pack the house. Everybody knows the play and its author and interpreter, Charles L. Davis. Mr. Davis as Uncle Alvin Joslin, the quaint old Yankee farmer, who comes to the city to see the sights and sees them, is a characterization of the typical down-east hayseed, which, as a piece of character acting, is a revelation. To say the performance is funny is using a very mild expression, for it is simply one scream of laughter after another. To speak of Davis' effective impersonation of Joslin would be but to cover old ground, for his acting has been enjoyed in this city on numerous occasions.

Another for Judge.

Mr. Andrew M. Taylor is announced to-day as a candidate for the Republican nomination for county judge, for which position he possesses excellent qualifications. Mr. Taylor is a native of DeWitt county, and has been a practicing lawyer in Decatur for three years. He graduated six years ago from the law department of the Illinois Wesleyan University. Mr. Taylor is a young man of energy and goes vigorously into the preliminary battle hoping for success. If nominated he will make a hot canvass before the people and will be elected.

Union Endeavor Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Decatur Endeavor Union will be held Friday evening at the First Presbyterian church. Mr. O. W. Stewart, of Eureka College, secretary of the Illinois Endeavor Union, will deliver an address on "Christian Citizenship." Mr. Stewart is an able and entertaining speaker. SHAKESPERIAN BANQUET.

Pleasing Entertainment at the Walston Residence Last Night.

The fourth anniversary of the existence of the Shakespeare Class of the Woman's Club was observed last evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. R. L. Walston in the presence of members of the class and invited friends. The ladies of the class who had the entertainment in charge as assistants for the hostess of the occasion were:

Pictures—Mrs. Ellen Philbrook, Mrs. A. T. Summers, Miss Sarah Murphy, Mrs. Frank J. Wolfe.

Banquet—Mrs. Charles Hurst, Mrs. George Bright, Mrs. George Bell, Mrs. Eli Bismann.

Decorations—Mrs. E. D. Walston, Mrs. Fred Norman, Mrs. R. O. Rosen and Miss Bertha Rosch.

The arrangements were complete for the observance of this special program:

Scene from "Tempest," dialogue, Miss Maude Martin as Ferdinand and Mrs. Frank J. Wolfe as Miranda.

Tableau from the Merchant of Venice, Miss Josephine Laux as Jessica, "I shall be saved by my husband; he hath made me a Christian."

Tableau from the Merchant of Venice, Mrs. Hosteller as Portia. "Therefore prepare thee to cut off the flesh. Shed thou no blood, nor cut thou less nor more than just a pound of flesh. If thou takest more than diest and all thy goods are confiscated."

Tableau from Hamlet, Miss Bertha Rosch as Ophelia; "There's rosemary, that's for remembrance. Pray you love, remember; and there's pansies, that's for thoughts."

Tableau from the Merry Wives of Windsor, Mrs. Walston as Falstaff, Miss Sadie Murphy as Mrs. Quickly, Mrs. Fred Norman as Sauty, Addie Ebert as Ann Page, Charles and Helen Summers as Fawns. "Pinch him, pinches him, pinch him for his villainy. Pinch him and burn him and turn him about till candles and starlight and moonshine be out."

The statue scene in the last act of Winter's Tale, Miss Corman, Mrs. Geo. Bell, Mrs. Rosen. "O thus she stood, even with such life 'O Majesty, warm life, as now it coldly stands, when first I cooled her. I am ashamed; does not the statue rebuke me for being more stone than it?"

Each scene was received with flattering applause. A. T. Summers was the master of ceremonies.

At the close of the entertainment an elegant banquet was served on the third floor, where there was ample space to accommodate the guests. Mrs. Ellen Philbrook proposed the toasts, and Mrs. Walston, the first president, gave an address setting forth the growth of the class and the wide range of its Shakespearean studies, incidentally alluding to the fact that gentlemen from Boston, St. Louis and Chicago had chosen wives from the class membership. Mrs. Walston was presented with a complete set of Henry Irving's play-acting edition of Shakespeare in eight volumes from the class with a neat address by Mrs. V. N. Hosteller. The cordial address of welcome to guests was given by Mrs. Alma Morgan Kinney, and Attorney David Hutchison gave a happy response. Mrs. J. C. Lake's theme was "Woman." It was a thoughtful paper on an always interesting topic. Mrs. Dr. Everett Brown paid a tribute to Shakespeare.

The entertainment was a pronounced success, and the gentlemen who were the critics say that everything was so perfectly presented and they were entertained in such a princely manner that they have only praise without qualification to bestow.

Testimonials.

Prof. Edmondson, the optician, at the Hotel Brunswick (opposite opera house), has been doing some clever work which must count to his credit. Mr. N. A. Woodford speaking of lenses fitted to his eyes said they had opened up to him a new world of vision.

W. J. Sloth says it has been almost impossible for him to read at all for the past ten or twelve years, has tried many oculists and opticians with no success; but Prof. Edmondson now at Hotel Brunswick succeeded in making him see perfectly as any child, far or near, with one pair.

Still more wonderful is the case of Mrs. A. Rathburn, who at the age of 13 became nearly blind through sickness, and for between twenty-five and twenty-six years has been unable to read at all. Since being fitted by Prof. Edmondson she reads even fine print, and the Professor expects her eyes and vision to become perfect.

Edmondson tests all eyes free, and will close business the fore part of next week. May 3-d3 w1
